

Virgin Blue In-flight Magazine - Voyeur December 2007

Tech Toys
Reviewed by Roulla Yiacoumi
Circulation 90,000

CLOSE YOUR EYES AND WISH FOR THESE HOT TOYS. BY ROULLA YIACOUMI.

:: NIKON COOLPIX S200

Place a pocket mirror next to this slim camera and you may have trouble telling them apart – except that one takes pretty amazing photos. The S200 is a barely-there 7.1-megapixel camera with 3x optical zoom. If the device detects an unsteady hand behind the pics, it'll reduce shaking and movement to produce a great shot regardless. It's also the perfect travel-sized camera.

PRICE :: $349

CALL :: 1300 366 499 (in Australia)

VISIT :: www.nikon.com.au

:: SUDIO ALTO

These days, Bluetooth may be standard on nearly every mobile phone, but exactly how can it make your life easier? It allows you to connect to any Bluetooth-enabled mobile, computer or MP3 player without pesky cords. This Alto Bluetooth stereo headset pumps the tunes direct to your phone. When an incoming call is detected, the music fades away so you can take the call.

PRICE :: $99.95

CALL :: 1300 736 723 (in Australia)

VISIT :: www.sudio.com.au

:: MOTOROLA HIPTOP SLIDE

Designed by Motorola, exclusive to Telstra in Australia and loved by Hollywood starlets, the hiptop Slide is essentially a smartphone for the cool kids. It lets you make calls, store music and play games. Log into MSN Messenger to chat, check email and access contacts in your address book. Hold it by gripping each side and slide the six-centimetre screen up with your thumbs to expose the keypad beneath.

PRICE :: $679 + plan

VISIT :: www.telstra.com.au/hiptop