

SMARTHOUSE

THE LIFESTYLE TECHNOLOGY GUIDE

PHONES / ACCESSORIES

Force Designs Trendy Bluetooth Speakerphones

By Mike Wheeler | Thursday | 23/10/2008

Force Technology International's Sudio Vogue Bluetooth hands-free speakerphones have been designed using hip, trendy colours so that most units fit aesthetically into most cars decor.

Click to enlarge

for a speakerphone solution but is seeking a greater variety of aesthetically designed products to compliment their lifestyle.

"As with their mobile handsets, today's mobile users expect choice, fashion and colour to be a standard feature, and the new Sudio Vogue range answers that demand," claims Jake Minear, Director at Force. "Sudio's brand is based around a range of products that are 'refreshingly simple', and the Sudio Vogue is just that, with a dose of colour and vibrancy thrown in as well."

With no installation or hard wiring required, the Sudio Vogue is a good solution to communicating hands-free whilst you drive, with quality sound and noise cancelling technology, claims Force.

RRP
$89

Units feature full duplex sound quality, DSP technology, 10 hours talk time, 480 hours stand-by with call features such as one touch answer, call waiting, last re-dial, mute and call reject. It comes bundled with a USB vehicle charger, a USB lead for convenient charging and a sun visor clip for mounting onto your car's sun visor.

Colour include metallic blue, pink, white and black. It has intentionally been designed for the consumer who is looking