

STREET SMART

THE HOTTEST GADGETS HAVE LANDED, DISCOVERS ROULLA YIACOUMI.

APPLE MACBOOK

Snow-white notebooks have always been synonymous with Apple, so it may come as a surprise to see one in black. The new Apple MacBook featuring Intel's powerful 2GHz Core Duo processor has a crisp 13.3-inch widescreen display, 80GB hard drive, DVD burner and webcam built into the lid. And you no longer need to worry about sending your notebook crashing to the floor when you trip over the power cord, as the MacBook has a new magnetic cable that instantly comes away from the machine if yanked.

Price: $2,399

Call: 133 622

Visit: www.apple.com.au

PHOTOGRAPHY: BEN ROLLISON

SUDIO HALO

This disc-shaped speaker clips on to your car's sun visor and enables you to answer phone calls without reaching for your phone. When your Bluetooth-enabled mobile phone rings, the Halo also rings and you can answer it by pressing a button for easy operation. You can also use it around the house as a speakerphone. The easy set-up is a bonus. Angelic.

Price: $129

Call: 1300 736 723

Visit: www.forcetechnology.com.au

SANYO ENELOOP

Do you feel guilty every time you throw away batteries knowing they'll end up being used as landfill? These new, rechargeable eneloop batteries can be re-used up to 1,000 times and maintain 85 per cent of their charge even after a full year in storage. They are pre-charged and ready to use off the shelf. Grab a charger for an additional $39.99.

Price: $24.99 for AA four-pack

Call: 1300 360 230

Visit: www.eneloop.com.au

SENNHEISER MX55VC STREET

The problem with many earbud headphones is that the earpieces don't sit properly in your ears. Sennheiser has put an end to this problem after coming up with a unique design that twists to fit in your ear comfortably and securely. Headphone cords that become hopelessly tangled as you throw them into your bag are also a thing of the past, thanks to the smart carry case.

Price: $69.95

Call: 1800 648 628

Visit: www.style-your-sound.com